Refinement, Delicacy of Speech, Good English, Grace, Neatness, Loveliness in General—Wonderfully Important in Making of Success and Happiness—Manners Expression of Good Morals—Temper and Selfishness Hang Out Their Signboards Upon Your Countenance—Five Recipes For Afternoon Tea Small Cakes—Aluminum Paint For the Garbage Can—Cut Scissors on Glass Bottle to Sharpen Them.

MANNERS EXPRESSION OF GOOD MORALS.

Manners are but an expression of good morals. No doubt there are many individuals of excellent morals and not excellent manners, but certainly the good manners, if cultivated, would in no way encroach upon or blot out the good morals.

Politeness is not only a delight, but it is a good business asset.

The young woman who knows how to talk nicely to people, whose manners are cordial and convincing, who never suffers from the embarrassment of ignorance, is the young woman who is going to make her way in the world.

Refinement, delicacy of speech, good English, grace, neatness, loveliness in general—all these are wonderfully important in the making of success and happiness. Within every woman's mind there are great possibilities of charm.

It is wonderful how charm develops under certain encouragement. The girl who is in love and whose sweet heart tells her that she is beautiful, suddenly becomes beautiful. Self-encouragement may be had by cultivating a gentle courtesy toward all humanity, tenderness for all suffering, forgiveness for human sins and human failings.

The woman who breaks away from prejudice and who treats her neighbors' eccentricities as kindly as she treats her own has made a fine start. The good things in her heart shine out through her eyes. They appear on her lips every time she speaks. They create about her a glowing, delightful atmosphere and finally become a part of herself. She is happy, and happiness is a beautifier.

On the other hand, if she indulges in temper and selfishness, these wretched qualities hang out their signboards upon her countenance. What should be sweetness is turned to acid, and time, that mischief maker, helps matters along by etching in her face lines that are tattletales of character—or lack of it.

SMALL CAKE RECIPES.

For afternoon tea try some of the following small cakes.

Marshmallow Cakes.

Cream together 1/2 cup of butter and two cups of fine sugar. Add a teaspoon of vanilla, the whites of five eggs beaten stiff and two cups of flour sifted four times. Bake in a large sheet and cut into small squares when cold. Spread with marshmallow filling, and decorate with nuts.

Nut Bars.

Mix one cup of brown sugar with one egg, one cup of walnut meats broken into bits 1-4 teaspoon of soda dissolved in a teaspoon of hot water, and two large tablespoons of flour. Bake in a thin sheet and cut in bars.

Maple Gems.

Two cups of maple sugar shaved, 1/2 cup of milk or cream, 1-4 cup of soft butter, 2 beaten eggs, 2 teaspoons of baking powder, and sufficient flour to make rather a stiff batter.

Bake in hot buttered Gem pans and serve hot.

Molasses Nut Cakes.

One-half a cup of brown sugar and the same quantity of butter creamed, add 1/4 cup of molasses, a beaten egg, two-thirds of a cup of milk, teaspoon of soda sifted with 2 cups of flour.

cup of seeded and chopped raisins, spices to flavor, 1-4 cup of cleaned currants and the same quantity of chopped pecans. Fill deep patty pans and bake in hot oven.

Oat Meal Drop Cakes.

Mix together 2 cups of oat meal, a cup of seeded raisins, a cup of nut meats, and chop all together well. Add 1/4 cup of softened butter, creamed with 1 cup of sugar, add three beaten eggs, 1/2 teaspoon of soda in 1-4 cup of milk. The grated rind of a lemon or orange with a tablespoon of the juice is also an excellent addition. 2 cups of flour. Beat well and drop from small spoon on buttered tin and bake.

MARKING THE GARBAGE CAN.

If the garbage can becomes shabby treat it to a coat of aluminum paint and save the price of a new one. To mark a garbage can print the initials on it with metal-eating acid, then coat with black paint over the letters. One housekeeper finding that pails get mixed up on the dumb waiter in an apartment house, had her husband paint different numbers of red bands all the way around the pails belonging to the neighbors using the dumb waiter—one band for the ground floor, two for the second, and three for the third, and so on.

TO SHARPEN SCISSORS.

Cut them rapidly on the neck of a small glass bottle, or on a ground glass stopper. It trues the edges and makes them cut like new. Another way is to place the scissors upon an ordinary knife as if in the act of cutting. By this manner several times you will sharpen your scissors.
